TODAY--Harley and Mary Lee Turnbull in 1982.

Turnbolls celebrate 50 years

Harley and Mary Lee Turnbull of Sagle, will soon be celebrating their Golden Anniversary.

An open house will be held in their honor, and those wishing to share in the celebration are invited to join the Turnbolls and their family from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, June 20 at the Sagle Community Hall. It is asked that the only gifts be those of attendance and good wishes.

The Turnbolls were married June 18, 1932 in Newport, Wash. Soon after their marriage, they moved to the 160-acre farm and woodlot south of Sagle, where they still reside.

Harley Turnbull worked in the woods during the early years of the couple's marriage. He later went to work for the State Highway Department, from which he retired in 1971. Mary Lee Turnbull has devoted her time to homemaking.

Harley Turnbull is a member of the Sandpoint Masonic Lodge and the Shrine Club. Both are active in the Order of Eastern Star, and they are members of the First Christian Church in Sandpoint.

Youth activities were important to both the Turnbolls as their children were growing up. Mary Lee was a 4-H Leader in the Sagle Community for 10 years, and Harley coached in the youth baseball program for several years.

The couple's three children, Richard, Les and Judy (Turnbull) Collett, will be hosting the open house. Richard Turnbull, an engineer for the Federal Aviation Administration, resides in Anchorage, Alaska.

Les Turnbull, also an engineer, lives in Great Falls, Mont. where he manages the Turnbull Engineering Co.

Judy Collett and her family reside in Lewiston, Idaho, where she is a teacher at the North Idaho Children's Home.

The Turnbolls played an active role in the education of each of their children. They also have five grandchildren.

Edgemere Grange has full agenda

Edgemere Grange

The Edgemere Grange was honored by a 4-H club member, giving an oratory analysis. Phyllis Turner of Thama won scholarships at Priest River on her speech course and gave emphasis to this program at some club meetings.

Three officers were absent, but there were nineteen members present. Obligations were given to Donald and Deanna Johnston of Clagstone.

The group was reminded that the Kootenai Grange would be celebrating its 50th anniversary June 12. Selle will honor the celebration on June 19 at 7:30 p.m.

The Pony Caravan will be at Edgemere July 10 and 11. On June 27, the Pomona Grange will meet at the Edgemere Grange at 1 p.m. for a bountiful picnic and prepare for an inside picnic if the weather is bad.

The Home Ec chairman spoke on CARE and what the grange could do to help. She asked for old glasses and hearing aid batteries.

courages everyone to take care of the grosbeaks, as they can help curtail the worm.

The group decided to enter the builder's contest, rather than the community service contest.

A letter from insurance agent Phil Earle stated that everyone ought to have bumper jacks and that there is a new way for billing for the insurance for grange members.

It was suggested that the group should donate to the Youth Leadership Fund to be used for traveling expenses for the grange prince and princess and contest winners to the state convention.

Edgemere Grange voted to donate the $20 to the Youth Leadership Fund.

A note of appreciation from Noble Van Blaricom and his family was read. Some unfinished carpentry was announced. For the lecturer's program, June Fergus read an article on a motorcycle kept in the living room for safety.

The card party Saturday night, June 12, rated five tables plus one person. There will be another party in two weeks. Winners were high - Mae Beers and Don Johnston, low - June Fergus and Carl Hulquist, 300 pinochle - Frank Wagner, and Joe Castagna had the five nines.

Crime Watch

Here are some more boating laws:

I.C. 3210 states that it is unlawful for any vessel to operate on the waters of Idaho without an annual use permit (we call it a boat license). Out-of-state vessels can obtain a temporary permit at 50 cents per day for a maximum of 15 days. There is no exception to this law. All monies received from the annual permit will remain in that county.

I.C. 49-3211, Rule 900.05 requires that all vessels shall carry a U.S. Coast Guard approved life preserver, buoyant vest or flotation jacket for each person on board, plus a throwable ring buoy or cushion. They must be readily available to all persons on board.

Rule 900.06 states that any vessel having on board any gasoline or liquified petroleum gas for propulsion or cooking shall have on board a U.S. Coast Guard approved fire extinguisher.

Rule 900.07 pertains to lights on boats, and has to do with lights required for sailboats and other vessels of various lengths. This rule is much too long for inclusion in this column.

Rule 900.09 advises that all vessels over 16 feet long shall be equipped with an efficient sound producing device.

I.C. 3225 states that, insofar as possible, the sheriff of the respective counties shall be primarily responsible for the enforcement of this chapter and in the exercise of that authority, may stop and board any vessel subject to this chapter.

The Bonner County Sheriff's Marine Deputies want everyone to have a safe and happy boating year and will aid and assist anyone who asks. The Idaho Boating Law books can be picked up at the County Assessor's office or sheriff's office or obtained from a marine deputy or various marinas in the county. Happy boating to all!

There will be more boating rules in next week's "CRIME WATCH." With water sports, a big attraction in our area during the summer, it is very important that everyone be aware of the rules and regulations, so we can MAYBE avoid the heartache that can occur due to a boating accident resulting in injury or even death.

Food preservation tips presented in workshops

It's time to begin planning for the preservation of produce. In order to preserve foods for the best quality and safest product, it is important to keep up-to-date with procedures that will insure this quality.

Several evening classes will soon be offered on food preservation, and those interested may come to one or all of the classes. All classes will be held from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. in the Bonner County Extension Office at the Bonner County Fairgrounds. Classes will include a video of correct procedures, discussion on recommended equipment and sampling of certain foods relative to the particular program.

Class dates and topics are June 15 - canning vegetables, meat, and fish, June 17 - food safety concerns, canning fruits and tomatoes, June 29 - making jams and jellies, and food storage, July 1 - freezing fruits and vegetables and drying fruits and vegetables.

A charge of 50 cents per class will be made to cover samples. Canning pamphlets from USDA and the University of Idaho will be available for purchase.

Those planning to attend are asked to preregister at the Extension Office or phone 263-8511. This program is sponsored by the University of Idaho Cooperative Extension Service. Anyone interested is welcome to attend.

50th birthday observed by the Kootenai Grangers

Kootenai Grange 312 celebrated its 50th anniversary June 12 at Kootenai School with a program and refreshments.

Worthy Master Gracie Irons introduced the dignitaries and guests with the assistance of Secretary Wanda Robinson. Mr. and Mrs. Dan Robinson presented silver certificates and 25-year silver pins to Inez Bloom, Lillian Linscott, Gracie Irons, Marvin Ernery, Alvin Jacobson, Paul VanScravandyk, Edwin Nurnal and Wanda Robinson. A total of 19 certificates will be mailed or presented at a Grange meeting at a later date.

The Lowell Family Singer presented several gospel songs and other music. The group includes Dale, Sue and Mary Lowell and Lori Retmann.

A skit on the end of a honeymoon featured Margaret Crowell as the husband and Betty Engler as the wife.

Jessie Dombey of Naples gave two readings about life on the farm.

About 70 Grangers from Bonner and Boundary counties and southern Idaho attended the celebration.

The Kootenai Grange was organized June 13 by L. E. Kegley.

Rotary honors graduates

A pair of 1982 Sandpoint High School graduates were honored by the Sandpoint Rotary Club at a luncheon June 9.

Loralee Strandy and Kevin Wright were two of this year's recipients of $750 educational scholarships from the club. The local Rotarians also raise enough money for two other scholarships, which are given to prospective college sophomores.

Strandy, a former Sandpoint Junior Miss, said she planned to major in nursing at Washington State University, while Wright said he would be a business major at Montana State University.

The two scholarship winners were chosen from among 19 applicants. Six applicants were interviewed personally before the awards were made.

Strandy and Wright will be eligible to apply again next year for another $750 scholarship. Second-year recipients for 82-83 include former SHS students Barry Stoddard, she will be a sophomore at Whitman College in Walla Walla, Wash.

and Christy Wallace, a student at Pepperdine University in California.

The $3,000 raised annually by the Sandpoint club is always used to help further the education of Sandpoint students, according to Rotarian Jim Nelson.

Rotarian scholarships are available in many different programs, for working adults as well as students, he noted.

Triangle United meets

The Triangle United Club met at the Art Hulquist home with Nellie and MaeBelle Hulquist as hostesses. Tootie Schneider acted as co-hostess. Nine men and seven children enjoyed the bountiful luncheon with 13 club members and guests. Tootie Schneider, Gladys Kel, Genevieve Zantow, Laura Jasman and Phyllis Turner. Phyllis Turner spoke on her oration analysis, giving several versions. June Fergus announced that she presented scholarships to Phyllis and James Tift of Sandpoint.

The next meeting will be with Ann Tomlinson at Edgemere, at which time silk flowers will be demonstrated.

It is compulsory that all Homemakers Council members be at the Extension office Monday, June 28.

THINK Electric Safety is no Accident

Electric power, like any dependable helper, deserves and requires respect. Carelessness near power lines or with electrical appliances can be deadly. Please... take time to THINK electrical safety anytime you're near power lines or working with any electric powered equipment. It will be time well spent. Because... Safety is no accident.
